FIFTY-SEVENTH YEAR NO. 20

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY APRIL 20, 1934

PRICE, $1.50 A YEAR

NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS.—Believe what we may about Ohio canal lands having been abandoned, the fact remains that these century-old waterways and adjoining lands and reservoirs were a source of large revenue to the state last year. The annual report of T. S. Brindle, Director of Public Works, discloses total receipts for the fiscal year of 1933 as $176,487.36 from various canal land sources. This is only $507.28 less than the 1932 receipts. Canal land leases brought in most of the total, or $130,051.66, an increase of $15,176.24 over 1932. Water power leases produced $16,982.29, a falling off of $4,773.58. Pipe line lease receipts declined from $37,239 in 1932 to $25,383.26 in 1933. The total disbursements of the department of public works in 1933 amounted to $367,487.23, or $111,494.38 less than the total sum appropriated. The largest total disbursement was for the State Departments building, amounting to $155,577.25, with a balance unused Dec. 31, 1933, of $44,334.20. Administration of the department cost $64,109.61, the total appropriation being $111,226.67.

Federal control of corporations was opposed by Secretary of State George S. Myers when this subject was discussed pro and con at the convention of The National Association of Secretaries of State, which he attended at St. Petersburg, Fla., last week. Mr. Myers said that "the control of corporations should continue to rest in the state, limited by the federal government only where the welfare of the states requires such legislation." Mr. Myers also argued that it is wrong for secretaries of state to reach out after executive power. "The office is an administrative one and the duties of the secretary are inherently those of a recording officer of the commonwealth, and should remain so," he said. Mr. Myers explained to the convention members the system he instituted whereby an extra summary sheet giving election results in each precinct is mailed directly to the Secretary of State immediately after the count is completed as a further check against fraud. Mr. Myers was named on a committee to report at the next annual meeting upon the advisability of adopting uniform corporation laws throughout the United States.

Ben H. Darrow, Director of the Ohio School of Air, has returned from Chicago, where he attended a meeting to arrange a 36-week radio program over a national network for the National Congress of Parents and Teachers covering the 1934-35 school year. Mr. Darrow is radio chairman of this vast organization comprising 1,500,000 members. Ada Hart Arlitt of Cincinnati also attended the Chicago meeting as a member of the committee. Hundreds of Ohio women will attend the National P. T. A. Congress at Des Moines, Iowa, May 13-19, when Mr. Darrow is on the program to help speak on the improvement of radio programs for children. He also has completed the manuscript for a book, "The Congress of Parents and Teachers," which he will print for national circulation on "Radio a Powerful Subject."

A supplemental roster of state officers, boards and commissions, including federal boards and agencies operating in Ohio, has been issued by the Secretary of State. The pamphlet of 28 pages contains much valuable information as to the functions and locations of these agencies. The data relative to the federal relief boards is especially useful because they are for the most part newly organized and their office locations are not generally known. The Secretary of State is also distributing to colleges, public libraries, schools, newspapers, bar associations and others a new check list of Ohio public documents.

With the tax program remaining up in the air, the legislature adjourned last Thursday until this week after continuing its defeatist attitude. The house voted down the three per cent sales tax 59 to 48, the third defeat for the proposal, but it was expected to be revived again this week after the senate failed to agree on a tax plan. The upper house defeated, 22 to 6, a resolution to adjourn Monday night sine die.

AWARDS TO BE MADE

Certificates are to be awarded soon to 24 CWA workers who successfully passed tests after completing a standard course in first aid training of injured persons, conducted under auspices of the state CWA and Red Cross chapters during the last few weeks. Workers who completed the 16-hour course, which was started here in February, can be expected before many more have been provided with first aid kits, days for other offices.

Let's Go!

Point Cattle Program Friday, April 27

A three-point program of very practical value to many cattle feeders will be staged on Friday, April 27. The first part will be in some of the feed lots of Madison County and will be the occasion of a forenoon tour under the direction of County Agent Baker. At one o'clock in the afternoon the meeting will be at the Madison County Experiment Farm where four lots of calves and yearlings will be shown. The yearlings are just finishing a winter's feeding test while the calves will be carried until summer. However, they have been here since fall so will have some partial results to offer. These Hereford calves were secured in West Virginia and a group of feeders from that state are coming to see how these calves are progressing. They feel there is an opportunity to produce such calves there if Ohio feeders will use them. Following the meeting at the Madison Farm the group will convene at the University barn to observe a pit silo and the three grades of cattle which have been fed on the silage from it. It is expected that the group will reach the latter place at about three fifteen.

Farm Crop Loans Now Under Way

Applications for Emergency Crop Loans are now being received at the Office of the County Agricultural Agent E. A. Drake each day. According to the regulations under which the loans are to be made this year, any farmer who secures a loan must obtain a statement from the County Production Council, composed of representatives of the various Control Associations, that he does not intend to increase his acreage or production in violation of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration Program.

The maximum amount of an individual crop loan that may be obtained by any one individual is $250.00, the minimum is $25.00. Applications for loans in an amount from $25.00 to $150.00 may be accepted by the Emergency Loan Office provided the farmer does not have sufficient security to obtain a loan elsewhere.

A farmer applying for $150.00 or more must first make an application to the Production Credit Association for a loan. Rejection of this application will be considered sufficient evidence that other credit is not available and the applicant may then make application to the Emergency Crop Loan Office.

Money obtained through the Emergency Loan may be used for the purchase of feed for work stock, fertilizer, seed, fuel and oil for the tractor, and spray material. The security consists of a mortgage on growing crops. Loans are due on or before October 31, 1934 with interest at 5% per cent.

A number of Cedarville supporters were present. Tuesday night, debates were held at Cedarville and Rio Grande with the affirmative teams visiting. ### DEFENDANTS FAVORED

The second district Court of Appeals today handed down a decision favorable to Stuard S. Andes, Earl M. Mumma, Ivolue Andes, Debra Mumma and the Union Central Life Insurance Co., Cincinnati, defendants in a suit filed by W. O. Jeffries and H. M. Fudge, Xenia contractors.

The case involved the question of priority of liens on a 200-acre farm which Stuard Andes and Earl Mumma purchased in March, 1926, from the Miami Conservancy District.

Farmers Can Sign Yet On May 1st

Farmers who did not sign Wheat Adjustment Contracts last fall, and now want to do so, may sign May 1st, it is announced by C. R. Titlow, Chairman of the Greene County Wheat Control Association. There will be no drive to secure signatures, but applications will be received daily at the Office of the Association located in the Post Office Building, Xenia.

The wheat plan has been re-opened at the request of farmers. Some modifications have been made in the plan that permit more farmers to take part in the adjustment program. This sign up will be re-opened to three groups of wheat producers as follows:

1. Those who filled out an application last fall but did not complete a contract are eligible to do so now. In return they will receive the first 1933 payment already distributed to signers as well as the second 1933 payment and full payments for 1934 and 1935.

2. Those who want to fill out application blanks and contracts now for the first time. Such producers are eligible to receive the second 1933 payment and all of the 1934 and 1935 payments.

3. Those who grew wheat only in the years 1932 and 1933. These producers, who were ineligible to take part in the program under former rulings, are entitled to grow for harvest this year 85 per cent of their 1932 acreage. Their benefit payments are less than those for growers who grew wheat each year of the past five.

Now, practically any wheat grower who grew wheat in any of the base years, 1930, 1931 or 1932, is eligible to sign a contract. The plan, while fair to the new signer, favors those who accepted contracts last fall.

Wheat growers whose cases coincide with any of the three listed above are urged to call at the County Office for detailed information before May 1st.

The county scholastic athletic committee was reorganized with the reelection of the three present members for another year. They are C. A. Devore, superintendent of Jefferson township schools; Supt. H. D. Furst, of Cedarville and Supt. R. E. Correll, of Yellow Springs.

LADIES FOUND MUCH INTEREST IN SCHOOL

The first Cooking School sponsored by the Herald and local merchants was a success if compliments we have received are to be taken as a criterion. The interest and cooperation of the ladies of the community is highly appreciated and certainly warrants another school in the future. Miss Inez Plotner, Home Economist, presided over the school and we voice the sentiment of the merchants as well as ladies of the community in endorsing her return some other time.

The Cooking School was a "kitchen course" where food and its preparation was the feature. Meats, groceries, fruits and vegetables used in the demonstration came from M. C. Nagley, C. H. Crouse and C. E. Masters, with bread from the Cedarville Bakery. Miss Plotner used nothing in her class work from these firms that she was not satisfied would meet the requirements of the most exacting rules of the highest course in Home Economics.

Besides the above firms that contributed to the School were: Hamman's Dairy; Brown Drugs; David E. Robinson, who provided the modern gas range and Leonard Electric Refrigerator; Preston Milling Co.; Adair's, Xenia, kitchen furniture; Dayton Power & Light Co., light and gas; Wesson Oil and Snowdrift Co.; Swift & Co.; Wm. Folke & Sons Co.; Springfield Abattoir Co.; Ohio Western Creamery Co.; Dahl-Campbell Co.; Eavey & Co.; Steel-Meridith Co.; Richards, Druggist; Hackett Fruit Co.; Standard Ice Cream Co.; Frances H. Liggett Co.

The attendance the first day showed a registration of 110 and 175 the second day. Prizes were given out each session by drawing from the registration cards. Nearly fifty pupils of the High School class in Economics attended part of the second day session for observation. A loud speaker was installed in Alford Gym by H. E. Luck of Xenia.

Among the prizes were twelve baskets of groceries, twelve Mayonaise mixers, a ham, slab of bacon, electric toaster, Hot Point Electric Iron, and a number of packages of groceries.

Those who secured prizes were: Mrs. Fred Townsend, Julia McCallister, Mrs. W. A. Spencer, Mrs. Carleton Corne, Mrs. Frank Townsend, Mrs. B. H. Little, Mrs. F. B. Turnbull, Mrs. J. M. Auld, Mrs. Geo. Hamman, Miss Le-a Corn, Miss Wilda Auld, Mrs. W. J. Tarbox, Mrs. Fred Clemans, Mrs. Minnie McMillan, Esther Waddle, Mrs. Wm. Harrison, Mrs. Elva Allen, Mrs. W. R. McChesney, Mrs. Robert Nelson, Mrs. Harry Hamman, Mrs. Cora Clemans, Francis Williamson, Geraldine Henry, Mrs. R. M. Wad'le, Mrs. Iva Floyd, Mrs. Ethel Buc, Mrs. Lee Shroades, Elizabeth Anderson, Mrs. E. S. Hamilton, Mrs. R. H. Allen, Mrs. J. A. Parker, Regina Smith, Mrs. Victor Bumgarner, Mrs. Paul Orr, Mrs. Howard Luck, Mrs. Lena Sanford, Josie Charleston, Mrs. Earl Randall, Anna Peterson, Mrs. George Martindale, Mrs. Earl Randall.

Democrats Threaten Republican Absentees

The Democratic bosses of the legislature bidding order of Gov. George White, Wednesday ordered the arrest of all absent members of the legislature, mostly Republicans, to force them to vote on the administration sales tax.

Week after week members of the legislature have been called to Columbus to waste time and remain there at great personal expense while the politicians wrangled over liquor legislation and made no effort to settle other important problems.

The general public would almost give unanimous support if the Republican membership as well as the Democratic opponents of the sales tax would revolt and refuse to enact any other kind of legislation. The White administration has sunk the state and little more damage could be done by the legislature refusing to take further orders from the political bosses and lobby element that presides over the administration.

MISSIONARY MEETING

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of Hillsboro District will hold an all day group meeting in the M. E. Church at Jamestown, Tuesday, April 24th, beginning at 10 a. m. The program will include an address by Miss Charlotte Illingsworth, a returned missionary from Burma, and Round Table Discussion, led by Mrs. Geo. Geyer, of Xenia. All interested in missionary work are urged to come and bring their friends. Pastors and their wives are especially invited.

COOKING SCHOOL WELL RECEIVED

The first Cooking School sponsored by this paper and local merchants evidently pleased a large number of people from response we have had thus far. This community is no different than many others in accepting new things and we hope to profit by the first venture in experience that will be valuable when the second school is announced at some future date.

The first idea of the Cooking School was to stimulate local business conditions and if possible bring new business this way. The school idea made this possible for there were a number present at the two-day session that had been trading in other territory.

Local merchants had full cooperation from wholesale houses and the numerous prizes should serve to introduce local buyers to the several brands of groceries that have a national reputation, and are on sale at local stores. The Herald extends thanks to local and wholesale merchants and also to the Dayton Power & Light Co., for the part all had in making the Cooking School a success.

REGULATION OF STOCK EXCHANGES

In a special message to congress on Monday President Roosevelt urged the passage of a bill governing stock exchanges "with teeth in it." The president is right. The manner in which these stocks are traded on exchanges must be regulated to protect the people. Speculation must be curbed and the government must have power to correct abuses.

Those in control of the big stock exchanges have made of them big gambling joints. Those operating them have not been satisfied with the "take off" which made the percentage all in their favor but through pools, false propaganda, misleading statements and alleged tips have "stacked" and "marked" the cards and used "loaded dice." They have not been places for investment and means for the bonafide purchase and sale of securities but the principal purpose has been wild speculation and taking from those of small means their meager savings.

Stock exchanges should be legitimate places of business, places for the purchase and sale of stocks and bonds; places where a person can make safe and sound investments with comparative security. Information given by brokers should be reliable. Information given by companies issuing stocks and bonds should be dependable.

So far as we can see there is no reason why stocks should be sold on margins. When a person buys stocks he should be compelled to pay for them in full at the time the stocks are delivered. We are convinced that the present depression is largely due to the orgy of speculation which preceded it, which was promoted by big financiers and wealthy brokers and aided and abetted by high officials of companies issuing stocks and bonds and in some instances by officials of big banks and alleged investment houses.

Many of the men of wealth and position seem to go on the theory, "trim the suckers." We saw recently where some man worth many millions claimed that all progress in civilization had come through speculation. This man owns several mansions in this country and Europe and a string of yachts. No doubt a large part of his wealth has been acquired through unfair stock manipulations, through pools, through having inside information. He is "running the game" and wants to have the privilege of continuing to run it. He has profited through the credulity of persons who have worked and saved and he still wants the privilege of taking their hard-earned savings from them and adding it to his already great wealth.

Disclosures in the last few years show the necessity for protecting the weak and uninformed from the strong and unscrupulous. We believe it is the duty of the government to furnish this protection. We hope President Roosevelt will succeed in having congress pass a bill "with teeth in it" regarding the issuing of securities by corporations and the manner in which they are bought and sold on stock exchanges.

Painting a town red has its place but painting the town blue is another color.

A bet is a gamble, pure and simple for a man is simple when he does it. As for gambling the whole world is suffering from it.

The administration is said to be against printing press money to pay depositors in closed banks, but will there not be that brand of money issued before long to pay the billions being wasted in proposed works, that will cost millions each year for upkeep.

Camel Bruce, noted for his ability to sheer sheep, reports a fine clip from 11 ewes belonging to Frank Creswell. The clip weighed 220 pounds, or an average of 22 pounds for each.

A newspaper friend tells us an interesting story of how the CWA worked in the South. He had a trip from Northern Ohio into Texas, across the southern states and down into Florida. He stopped at a way-side filling station in one of the southern states to get gasoline and a half mile distant noticed a large crowd of people and a few machines. He mentioned to the filling station attendant that a serious wreck must have occurred up the road but was informed that it was the government paying CWA "workers" in the neighborhood.

When he reached the scene he discovered three white men and an estimated number of colored men, probably three hundred. He made inquiry and found each was being paid $7.50 a week. Being interested he also inquired of one member of the crowd where they had been working and received the answer, "We don't have to work. Uncle Sam pays us for not working." This group was about five miles from the next town. Proceeding on his trip some fifty miles farther, he encountered a similar group of colored men and found they were also drawing $7.50 a week and no work. Later he stopped at a farm house to get some water and inquired as to how things were going in the South when the cotton farmer replied, "Pretty tough, we can't hire anybody to work." When stopping at hotels and restaurants he made it a point to sound sentiment for the NRA and CWA and it generally was condemned. The complaint the Southern "lily white" had was that the administration was making Democrats of all that ever existed of the Republican party in the South.

Continuing our informant says the south is making good use of every loan agency the government has provided, in fact most of the south is being sold to the government with little idea of ever reclaiming ownership. One hotel proprietor thought the south was entitled to all it could get on anything in as much as the north and east had to pay the bill. One southern publisher informed our friend that money from Washington was manna from heaven but he was a little fearful that when pay day came every man that owned a farm or a home would have to pay for either the second time. Southern business was reported much ahead of what we have had in the north, due largely to "money from Washington." When we contrast what has taken place in the south with how the colored population has fared in the north, there evidently has been much discrimination. The colored population in the cities as well as rural sections did not fare so well under the CWA. If they received anything they had to work for it, while in the south they were paid for doing nothing. Such a situation should make good business in the south.

The movement in Congress to fix a place for silver in our monetary system, met a sudden check Monday when President Roosevelt set his foot on it. Some weeks ago the thought of inflation made all values more or less uncertain but in recent weeks those who speculate in wheat felt that silver inflation was on the way and this would send up the price of that commodity. The President's attitude sent a scare into the grain market and wheat dropped nearly five cents a bushel. The wheat gamblers still have chance, for grain will continue to ride its own course for a while. The speculators at the right time will purchase again and send the price up to take a good profit. And yet we hear that we do not need some control over the speculating markets. If margin trading is not made illegal under the wave of gambling that has swept the country, there will be little hope of wheat, corn, oats or rye, bringing the grower a price that will net a profit. As the hog market is directly influenced by corn, one of the farmer's best avenues of revenue will be made more uncertain than it has been in the past.

We are not so very far from the time when our universities in this country will face just what the individual faces today. The reaction that is taking place can never be overcome by anything the universities can do for public sentiment is slowly rolling up to the door of the larger institutions. The university has been the producer of the economist and they have been turned out in great numbers. Big business has in the past financed many of the leading universities to produce "economists" but now that government is to be ruled and directed by a class that never earned a dollar by the "sweat of the brow," there is a different feeling spreading over the land. A speaker at a prominent dinner group in Springfield tore into the present situation Monday in terms that set his hearers at nervous tension. According to the speaker the present day economist is nothing more than a "Communist," working hand in hand with the Third Internationale. This gives us something new to worry about.

Reports out of Columbus say Ohio liquor stores must do a gross business of $300 a day. We see a list of towns and the business done so far which indicates that Ohioans must not care for the "glorified saloon" Gov. White has given us, or the product he offers thirsty consumers. Ohio prices are way above some of the other states where liquor is sold by druggists and what we formerly called the saloon. Ohioans may also not have a taste for the cheap black-strap molasses booze the state has recently placed on sale. The boot-legalizer violated the prohibition law and now the state flaunts the pure food and drug law that provides only for the sale of grain whiskey aged in wood at least four years.

A Wall street banker with international connections died very suddenly last week. This week his estate is listed for probate in New York and estimated at $15,000. The banker was credited with dropping $40,000,000 in the stock market crash in 1929, but yet when he died he was reported to be worth many millions. No one doubts that he controlled his millions that had been placed in other names, most likely to be ready for any emergency that might arise, such as death. His millions are not subject to inheritance tax, neither state or federal and those who continually preach inheritance tax as just might get an object lesson in this case, which is only one of hundreds left where the eye of the tax collector cannot find it. Most times in our legislative zeal to catch and soak the rich we overlook the fact we are collecting most from the life saving of those who cannot hide a five or ten thousand dollar estate.

Republicans that look with some suspicion on the activities of the present national administration will not find much comfort in a public statement of Dr. Julius Klein, former assistant Secretary of Commerce under Herbert Hoover. Dr. Klein is one of the brain-trust educators that carries the handle of "Dr." to his name. He comes into the open and approves the proposed change in the tariff laws now advocated by Pres. Roosevelt. He does not think Congress is capable of handling the tariff problem and power should be delegated to the President. Dr. Klein was the "economist" of the Hoover administration and is credited with having laid the ground work that the Democratic administration has developed into what is now known as NRA. Who is there that can deny that much of what the country faces today is due to the reaction of what happened under the past administration? It has been a terrible price the Republicans have had to pay.

Judge Stanley Struble, Cincinnati, this week gave the White state administration much to think about when he held the diversion of automobile license tag funds as unconstitutional in that the law under which such fees are collected provides that the funds must be used only for highway improvement. Two years ago the legislature amended the law to provide funds for poor relief, schools and libraries, but at the time did not change the original law as to how the money was to be spent. If the upper courts uphold the decision it will mean that all money so diverted must be repaid to the proper fund for highway improvement in each taxing district.

We are inclined to think some of our newspaper friends have laid aside the ordinary ethics of the profession in the manner in which state liquor stores are opened. Just why a state liquor store deserves first or last page space to inform the public as to the various brands and prices of liquor we are at a loss to know. The state spends nothing for advertising space yet numbers of daily papers in news matter quotes brands and prices. We fail to see the justice of such a practice. If a regular advertiser in any mercantile line asked the same favor the request would be turned down. The state deserves no more consideration in the way of such publicity than the local merchant.

The Ohio legislature received a stiff jolt this week when the Ohio Supreme Court held the bill permitting members to draw $4 a day expense as unconstitutional. The court held $4 a day reasonable as pay to reside in Columbus but it would be unconstitutional. If all the money being spent by the present administration was as lawful as what the legislature asked there might be serious objection to what the members asked. The legislature has been called time after time to face a programless administration other than passing liquor laws. The public has nothing but sympathy for the members who have been called back often than ever before in the history of the state. One member to remind the Supreme Court as to what power the legislature has at once presented a bill providing for a reduction of the salary of Supreme Court judges who get as much in two months as the legislator gets in a year.

.. Temperance Notes ..

Sponsored by Cedarville W. C. T. U.

Thanks to Dr. W. H. McPeak of Los Angeles, Cal., for his good letter and temperance information.

Bootleggers are flourishing throughout the country; even wet newspapers are telling us that there is more bootlegging since repeal than ever before. Where is the government control?

A record kept of the radio police calls for one hour recently showed twenty-three calls for drunkenness in the city of Los Angeles.

According to a dispatch sent out this month by the Associated Press from Detroit, Mich., legal liquor has not stopped bootlegging, for it said: "There are more stills in operation here (Detroit) since repeal and their capacity is double what it used to be." Although the Michigan Liquor Control Commission figures show that each of the fifteen state stores in Detroit is doing an average business of $1,296 daily, yet the total "is only a fraction of the business done by saloons in pre-prohibition days." It is estimated that at least 300,000 gallons of liquor a month is being distilled illegally in Detroit. Where does government control come in.

Associated Press has just published the report of E. J. Flynn, New York secretary of state, that New York's referendum on the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment cost $805,689. How many barrels of beer and glasses of liquor had to be consumed before that state could reap and profit from repeal. But—how many brewers and liquor dealers offered to wait till the cost of election was met before taking a cent of profit for themselves?—Union Signal.

Before repeal we were told that repeal could rid the country of "poor stuff," and there would be nothing but the "pure stuff."

"Lipstick flavored with wine" made their appearance this week at J. W. Robinson Co., exclusive Los Angeles department store. The new lipsticks are advertised as having a "pleasing flavor, as lasting as one wishes."

Corn-cob pipes may be the next thing to be "flavored with wine."

The women and the boys and girls constitute a problem, which staggers sincere wets. Such development was not expected. The liquor interests fought to bar women from taverns on the ground that their presence would hurt trade. But the bar to women has been a boomerang. No one thought they would furnish so much of the demand for liquor.

As one observer put it, "The women started in where the men left off." Unless the women watch their step they will "queer" repeal.—Boston Post (wet).

The Cleveland News of March 30 said:

The saloon has returned. And a free and untrammelled saloon, at that.

The barroom which the aroused citizens of Cleveland, the state and the nation voted out of existence some 16 years ago has staged a comeback. It is back under our noses again.

Regulations for its conduct are non-existent. True, there is the Ohio state liquor code and the liquor commission, but so far no general rules have been made public governing some of the most obnoxious phases of the new saloonism.

The News worked for repeal and pictured to its readers how much better things would be under repeal than under prohibition.

HOME CULTURE CLUB

The annual business meeting of the Home Culture Club followed a luncheon at the noon hour at the home of Mrs. C. W. Steele, Tuesday. Mrs. J. S. West was elected president; Mrs. C. W. Steele, vice president; Mrs. Cora Trumbo, secretary, and Mrs. C. E. Masters, treasurer. Fourteen members and a guest, Mrs. W. P. Harriman, Dayton, were present. The members were seated at small tables decorated with jonquills and other spring flowers. Roll call was answered with "nature quotations." The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. C. Townsley, May 15.

BEAUTY PARLOR GIVES PRIZE AT COOKING SCHOOL

The Community Beauty Parlor presented a prize of service to Mrs. Geo. Martindale, as one of the winners at the Cooking School this week. The parlor is one of the up-to-date specialty shops in the county.

Mrs. Lawrence Johnson and daughter, Wilma Zoe, of Wheaton, Ill., and Miss Edith Abrahamson of Chicago, have returned home after a pleasant visit with Prof. and Mrs. C. W. Steele. Mrs. Johnson is a daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Steele.

Mr. Edgar Little, well known young farmer residing on the Columbus Pike east of town was seriously injured a few days ago when cutting limbs off a fallen tree. He was hit by a limb in some manner stunning him and also breaking several teeth. He was alone at the time and no one knows exactly how the accident happened.

BIGGEST SHOWS OF THE SEASON IN SPRINGFIELD

The Regent Theater, Springfield, will open next Sunday with George White's "Scandals," the screen adaptation of the famous stage show that New York clamors to pay ten dollars a head to see once each year. According to the reports at hand the picture is far bigger and more spectacular than the Broadway production. Rudy Vallee, Alice Faye and Jimmy Durante are starred in a mammoth cast which includes 300 of George White's beautiful Scan-dolls.

At the State Theater starting Saturday "As The Earth Turns," Gladys Hasty Carroll's famous novel that has been the delight of more than 10,000,000 readers, takes top position. Jean Muir, heralded as the most talented star in the world of pictures, is the leading performer. This picture is claimed to be the first movie attraction absolutely free of hokum and to bring to you a story of small-town life with its rigors and hardships, its joys and sorrows and above all, the very heart-beats of the people who make up the great rural communities of America.

The Fairbanks Theatre will show "The Ghoul," starting next Sunday, with Boris Karloff, past master delineator of spooky personalities, in the title role. This is contended to be one of those spin-tingling, blood-chilling stories after the order of "Frankenstein" and "Dracula." The title itself is indicative of the action and the picture proved its tremendous tug on the curiosity of humanity by holding forth for more than four weeks at the big Rialto Theater of New York.

Cake Frostings With Variety

A frosting can make or mar the lightest, most perfect cake ever made. And many of us, secretly, eat our cake for the frosting if it's piled high and has a smooth, delicious texture and flavoring. So try some of these new icings on your favorite cake recipes to give them interest and different flavor.

Of course, uncooked frostings are the easiest to prepare and of these butter frosting takes the lead for simplicity and deliciousness. Here is the foundation recipe that may be varied according to your taste and ingenuity.

Chocolate Torte

9 eggs separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
3/4 lb. powdered sugar
3/4 lb. ground almonds
3/4 lb. melted sweet chocolate
Beat yolks of eggs with sugar and vanilla, add melted chocolate gradually. Add the almonds and fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Bake in a greased cake pan with center tube, about one hour, in a moderate oven, 325 F. Cover with butter frosting, using the chocolate flavor. Stick almonds which have been sliced.

Cocoanut Torte

3/4 lb. butter
3/4 lb. flour
5 teaspoons sugar
3 eggs
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 lb. cocoanut
Mix butter, egg yolks and three teaspoons sugar, then add baking powder and flour. Press this mixture into a spring form, over it spread marmalade, about a cupful. Then beat egg whites with two tablespoons sugar; to this add the cocoanut, which can be slightly browned, if preferred, spread some on cake, use rest for lattice work or other decoration. Then bake in moderate heat one-half hour.

Sweet Potato Favorite

Choosing a sweet potato is almost like choosing a husband. You have to consider appearance, complexion and general sweetness of disposition. And like men, there are all kinds and conditions on the market.

Sweet potatoes are divided into two types—the dry-meated and the moist-meated or yam type. Yams are a trifle sweeter in flavor and deeper in color than ordinary sweet potatoes; both kinds are excellent values and it's really a matter of your own personal taste.

When buying sweet potatoes, always pick out thick, chunky ones of medium size. Odd shapes and abnormal sizes are less economical in the end. Be sure that the skin is bright, clean and free from blemishes. If the skin is wrinkled and withered, pass them up every time.

Sweet potatoes are fast becoming a very smart vegetable. They appear on the menus of restaurants—baked, candied, even fried. And, of course, there's always sweet potato pie.

Butter Frosting

Three tablespoons of butter.
About three cups of confectioners' sugar.

One-fourth teaspoon salt.
Three or four tablespoons of liquid flavoring.

One egg yolk.
Cream the butter in the mixing bowl and gradually cream in the sugar. When about half the sugar has been used add the egg yolk and beat until the mixture is fluffy. Add the rest of the sugar alternately with the liquid, mixing well. Among the flavorings that may be used with the above basic recipe are:

Chocolate—Using milk for the liquid and toward the end add four squares of melted chocolate.
Spices—Sift the following spices with the sugar: one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon cloves, one-half teaspoon nutmeg. Use milk for the liquid.

Orange—Use one tablespoon lemon juice and the rest orange juice for the liquid.

Lemon—Use two tablespoons lemon juice and two tablespoons water for the liquid.

If you want a particularly delicious cake try using two frostings instead of one. Bake a plain white or yellow cake and spread caramel frosting between the two layers and on top. Then spread chocolate frosting over the caramel top and on the sides of the cake.

To make caramel frosting boil one and one-half cups granulated sugar, one-half cup light brown sugar and three-fourth cup evaporated milk until just below the soft ball fudge test. Add one tablespoon butter and one-half teaspoon vanilla. Cool, then beat till stiff. Add enough evaporated milk to spread. Chocolate frosting is made in the following way: Break off 2 squares of chocolate and melt over hot water. Stir in one-half cup confectioners' sugar (about 2 cups) alternately with enough evaporated milk to moisten. Beat until creamy and smooth and add one-fourth teaspoon vanilla.

Asks Rehearing
Bell Company

Complying with orders of the Public Utilities Commission, The Ohio Bell Telephone Company submitted to the commission rate and revenue data and estimates for all of its exchanges, with the reservation that the information is not a rate schedule, nor is it filed or offered for filing.

The commission in the orders referred to, issued on January 16 and March 1 of this year, held that the company had earned too much money from 1925 to 1932, inclusive, and that therefore its rates had been too high during that period. The commission found that the excess earnings for these years were $13,289,172 and ordered that this sum be refunded to the customers entitled thereto. The company was directed to submit lowerate rate schedules as of June 30, 1925, by the company during the year 1925. Thereupon the company filed petitions in error in the State Supreme Court, asking the court to set aside the commission's order. The company also applied to the court for a stay suspending execution of the commission's orders, to prevent lower rates from going into effect pending the court's final decision. However, the court denied the latter application, presuming on the ground that the commission had not finally ordered the lower rates to become effective. Accompanying the data and estimates submitted to the commission was a letter signed by Randolph Elide, Ohio Bell president, in which he pointed out that they were furnished subject to the following reservations and conditions:

"Such data and estimates are not furnished voluntarily but under protest and solely for the purpose of avoiding the imposition of drastic and heavy penalties for non-compliance with such orders.

"Included in the data and estimates are statements by exchanges of the monthly rates which, if applied to the respective services actually rendered years.

"By furnishing such data and estimates The Ohio Bell Telephone Company does not admit that the Commission's orders of January 16 and March 1, 1934, are valid or enforceable. One the contrary, the company denies that the Commission had any right in this cause to order the company to make refunds for any of the years 1925 to 1932, inclusive, or to order that schedules or reduced rates be filed, retroactively effective, and in the company's protests and applications and petitions for a rehearing of this cause, that said orders are invalid, unlawful and unreasonable."
